The aim of the school is to allow children to learn and to use English and Chinese Putonghua naturally. The teachers use the 'teaching in motion" method. They provide the children with learning experiences appropriate to their development through play and allow them to experience things for themselves. This opens the children's minds, helping them to develop their self-esteem and to appreciate the ability of self-learning. The children learn how to be independent and to learn by themselves. Moreover, the school designs featured interest activities according to our culture. In order to keep pace with the era, the curriculums are reviewed and improved every year. 師資
